

Yanks Gain on Leaders by Beating Athletics--Giants Split Even With Phillies; Dodgers Toss Away Two Games

YANKS CONTINUE TO LEAD IN RALLY GIVES LOCALS 7 TO 6 VICTORY--ON LEADERS' TRAIL.

By FREDERICK G. LIEB.

The poor Athletics almost won a game on the Polo Grounds yesterday, but could not quite put it over. The Yankees crossed out a three-run rally in the eighth inning and jumped ahead with a pair of runs in the ninth, but just as Uncle Cornelius Mack was about to collect the bottom fall out of his near victory, several flies hit safe, "Win" Wynn tossed in a wild pitch and young Lawton Wilt felt very strong and fired a bunt. The Yankees, however, were all over, as the Yankees had won another game. The score was 7 to 6.

It was the seventh straight game the Yankees have taken from the dejected Philadelphia Athletics, five during the present series. The Yankees are climbing into the thick of the pennant fight. They are snapping at the coat tails of the Red Sox, with the White Sox only a stone's throw away.

Early Exit for Bush.

The Yankees put Joe Bush to bed early in the game. They slammed him from the knoll in the first inning. Joe was the only Athletic pitcher the Yankees could get out of the game. He was hit for three runs in the first, so Mack sent in Cy Peckham.

In the third inning St. O'Loughlin, who had been sitting on the Athletic bench and had not yet until Joe Bush started off.

Nick Cullop started off to pitch for the Yankees and his left-handed shenanigans were dodged with much ease. Nichols seemed to have an ambition to see how many hits he can allow without getting beaten. He was succeeded by Love and Shawkey.

Strunk's Work Features.

Amos Strunk's all around work featured. He tore off a homer and two singles scored three runs and accounted seven chances in center field. He struck out three batters, four on hits and once on an error by Peckham.

The Yankees opened with three runs in the first inning. They walked with one out and Mabel sent him to third with a double. Pipp was purposely passed, filling the bases, but Bush knocked him out. The Yankees then hit and scored three runs. The Athletics scored their first run in the fifth inning when Strunk pumped a home run into the right field stand. The Yankees got this one back in the sixth, scoring their only run in six innings of Peckham on Pipp's single. Mabel's sacrifice and Peck's double.

The Mackmen became slugging demons in the eighth and whaled Cullop, who had been sitting on the Athletic bench and had not yet until Joe Bush started off. The Yankees then hit and scored three runs. The Athletics scored their first run in the fifth inning when Strunk pumped a home run into the right field stand. The Yankees got this one back in the sixth, scoring their only run in six innings of Peckham on Pipp's single. Mabel's sacrifice and Peck's double.

In the ninth Shawkey was beat up for two runs. Strunk, Mabel and George hit on him for singles and a pass to Grover for a run. The Athletics were now two runs to the good, but the Yankees scored three runs in the ninth. The Athletics scored their first run in the fifth inning when Strunk pumped a home run into the right field stand. The Yankees got this one back in the sixth, scoring their only run in six innings of Peckham on Pipp's single. Mabel's sacrifice and Peck's double.

GIANTS' GAIN EVEN BREAK WITH PHILS

Regain Lead by Beating Alexander, Then Lose It Again on a Passed Ball.

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—The Giants were back in the lead after a few hours this afternoon, but couldn't stand properly. In the first game of a double header, here today they encountered Alexander, here today they encountered "Alek" is one of the easiest things the New Yorkers do. The Quaker pitching prince was subdued by a score of 4 to 3. In the second game, the Giants practically had uphill game and passed the Phillies despite the fact that Moran's players got away to a three-run lead in the first inning. However, Middlesett could not protect the lead, and Schupp was beaten out in the tenth inning on a passed ball by Rariden, his battery partner. The Phillies were then able to score by a score of 6 to 5. Seventeen thousand attended the game.

The opening defeat was the third straight that Alexander, who has suffered from the loss of his left arm, was badly defeated, as he did not allow an earned run. An error by Niehoff on a bunt, which got him in in the first inning, was the Giants' practical first inning, when the Giants practically got the crusher on him with three runs. Kautz also was hit in this inning. Roberts lashed out a double and Holke a single.

Luders's Fumble Costly.

In the sixth inning New York scored another run on Luders's fumble. In the second game, this proved a costly error. Luders's fumble cost the Yankees a run. The Phillies scored their first run in the sixth inning when Strunk pumped a home run into the right field stand. The Yankees got this one back in the sixth, scoring their only run in six innings of Peckham on Pipp's single. Mabel's sacrifice and Peck's double.

The Athletics scored their first run in the fifth inning when Strunk pumped a home run into the right field stand. The Yankees got this one back in the sixth, scoring their only run in six innings of Peckham on Pipp's single. Mabel's sacrifice and Peck's double.

In the ninth Shawkey was beat up for two runs. Strunk, Mabel and George hit on him for singles and a pass to Grover for a run. The Athletics were now two runs to the good, but the Yankees scored three runs in the ninth. The Athletics scored their first run in the fifth inning when Strunk pumped a home run into the right field stand. The Yankees got this one back in the sixth, scoring their only run in six innings of Peckham on Pipp's single. Mabel's sacrifice and Peck's double.

GIANTS Tie Score in Fourth.

The Giants tied the score in the fourth inning, when singles by Horan, Mabel and Zimmerman were followed by Fletcher's home run drive into the left field bleachers. New York then took the lead in the sixth, scoring two runs on a single by Miller and a double by Horan. The Athletics scored their first run in the fifth inning when Strunk pumped a home run into the right field stand. The Yankees got this one back in the sixth, scoring their only run in six innings of Peckham on Pipp's single. Mabel's sacrifice and Peck's double.

Three Cards Among Leaders in Batting

St. Louis this morning holds a monopoly on individual batting leaders. The first five there are three Cardinals, with Walter Underhill at the head of the list. Horan is fourth and Smith fifth, with Horan and Smith still holding a good lead over Speaker, while Melvin is third in the batting leaders of the big leagues follow:

DOGGERS DROP TWO: 6 TO 5 AND 7 TO 3

Dell Knocked Out in Ninth Inning of First and Cadore Is Shelled in Second.

By GEORGE B. UNDERWOOD.

After taking four straight from the Braves the Dodgers did a right about face at Ebbets field yesterday and dropped two games to the Braves in the Boston clan. Wheeler Dell pitched good ball for eight innings in the first game, only to blow up in the ninth, the Braves scoring five runs and beating Brooklyn, 6 to 5. Behind heart breaking scoring in the eighth inning, the Braves again manufacturing five runs. The Dodgers lost the second game, 7 to 3.

With Jake Daubert confined to his home nursing two badly pulled tendons and Mike Moroney laid up with a bad injury, the Dodgers were left with a weak lineup in the first game. Smyth played third in the first game and J. Myers held down the difficult corner in the second game of the double header.

Impiring Wretched.

The umpiring, which has been bad throughout the series, was wretched yesterday. Umpire Rigler again reversed a decision on Empire, making a total of three times in two days so unusual an occurrence.

A fluky homer by Kelly which rolled through Hickman gave Boston a run in the first inning of the opener. The Dodgers tied it up in their half of the inning on Olson's single, two forceouts and Casey Stengel's timely throw.

Johnston's single and Stengel's double registered another run for Brooklyn in the third. Stengel doubled in the sixth and was tripped home by Wheat. Cutshaw's sacrifice hit a triple and Olson's triple and Johnston's sacrifice fly registered another run for Brooklyn in the seventh.

Thurman the ninth inning brought deluge. Singles off Dell by Willett, Fitzpatrick Smith and Maranville, with a double by Tyler included, put across four runs and tied the score. Sherrill Smith was rushed to the rescue with a man on base and only one out. An error by Smyth and Massey's single put across the winning run.

Dodgers Lead in Second.

Johnston tripled to right in the first inning of the second game and scored on Willett's wild throw past Smith. Kelly's single, Stengel's sacrifice, an error by Olson, which the official scorer called a triple, and a sacrifice by Myers enabled Boston to tie the score in the fourth. Brooklyn went to the front again in the fifth when Olson's wicked belt bouncer off Fitzpatrick's shine into the left field bleachers for a home run.

Maranville singled in the seventh. A wild throw by Johnston past second on Neil's hunt put Maranville on third and Neil on second. Kelly singled, scoring Maranville a run in the eighth. The Dodgers tied it up in their half of the inning on Olson's single, two forceouts and Casey Stengel's timely throw.

PIRATES RALLY TOO LATE.

Score 5 Runs in Ninth, but Are Beaten by Reds, 6 to 5.

Pittsburgh, June 26.—(National)—Pittsburgh scored five runs in the ninth inning, but were noosed out by Cincinnati, 6 to 5.

Umpire Quigley on the bases twice changed Umpire Byron's decisions on balls and strikes, in each the batsman swinging his bat widely in dodging the ball.
